

Joann Chaney ~ Executive Director

Joann built her career in travel by developing and managing for thirteen years Purdue University's Educational Travel Programs. She worked with over thirty professors sending 150 groups to 47 different countries. While at Purdue, she was awarded seven major grants to create customized educational travel programs and she published five books and articles about educational travel. She has taught university courses and leverages her master's degree in art education and her training in philanthropy to assist clients in planning educational travel focused on business, art, music, history, culture, and natural resources. Joann's business style of "knowing your clients" provides added value and a personal touch to all Global Tracks services.

Carey Kopetas ~ Director of Operations

Carey spent ten years planning group travel for leading international travel companies such as Abercrombie & Kent and Thomas P. Gohagan & Company. As a result, she has a robust industry network of top quality travel partners she utilizes to plan customized travel itineraries that are cost effective for our clients. Carey's business degrees in international studies and marketing, plus her extensive travel to over 30 different countries allows her to assist clients in creating and managing any type of travel program. Carey's exceptional attention to detail and planning ensures Global Tracks' high standard of quality for all our operations.

William Chaney, Ph.D. ~ Business Development

Bill brings 35 years of academic experience as a professor at Purdue University to our educational travel programs. He is an accomplished teacher, researcher, and author, having received national awards for his achievements. During his tenure at Purdue University, Bill was extensively involved in international development and research projects and designed and led travel courses to Europe, South America, Africa, and China. He has either worked or traveled in more than 55 countries. His many talents enhance the educational components of Global Tracks' travel programs.

Anna Kerkhoff ~ Program Manager

Anna began her travel career by managing a leading travel agency for many years. She worked for Purdue University's Continuing Education Travel Programs and also as Program Manager for International Master's in Management for Executive Education. She understands both the needs of universities offering MBAs and the needs of professional students participating in international programs. Her ability to plan itineraries that will enhance the EMBA learning experience and meet course curricula fosters Global Tracks' continuing tradition of excellence.
